Background and methodology

The goal of this community-based market monitoring initiative is to deepen analysis and understanding of the shifting patterns of trade and markets in Darfur, on an ongoing basis for key agricultural and livestock commodities, to identify how livelihoods and the economy can be supported through trade, and to identify peacebuilding opportunities through trade. Five CBOs plus DRA are monitoring 11 markets across West Darfur, including two markets in IDP camps, on a weekly basis. Quantitative data, for example the price of Darfur’s main cereals, livestock, cash crops and fruits and vegetables are collected weekly as well as qualitative data, for example on sources of supply. Some data are collected on a monthly basis, for example transport costs, transport routes and the impact of the conflict on flows of commodities. DRA holds quarterly analysis workshops with the CBO enumerators.

• Trends in livestock prices varied from one market to another, although sheep prices slightly increased in some monitored markets this quarter, because of growing demand for sheep for Eid al-Adha, within Sudan and from Saudi Arabia. Therefore local livestock traders and agents of big livestock merchants in Omdurman started buying sheep, to be sold during the Eid al-Adha.

• Cattle prices were stable or fell in most monitored markets this quarter, reflecting availability of cattle yet poor local demand. The quarterly average price decreased by 5% in El Geneina market. But the quarterly average price increased by 13 % in Forobranga market, due to the presence of Omdurman traders as mentioned in the last bulletin.

• In terms of cash crops, the price of groundnuts, cooking oil and groundnut cake all increased during the quarter, reflecting the limited supply of groundnuts. The quarterly average price of groundnuts increased in El Geneina market by 86% compared with the last quarter; the quarterly average price of a jerry can (of 36 lbs) of groundnut oil increased from SDG 395 to SDG 450 in El Geneina market, a 14% increase. Dried tomato and dried okra prices were high in most monitored markets as this is off-season.

• For fruit and vegetables, onion prices increased sharply this quarter, reflecting seasonal trends. Fresh tomatoes were not available in many monitored markets, as this is the off-season. Orange prices rose in areas of consumption such as Forobaranga and Seleia, and fell in production areas such as El Geneina and Mornei.

• Heavy rainfall in August caused some damage to Mornei Bridge on the El Ingaz road, almost equidistant between El Geneina and Zalingei. This caused a one-week delay for trucks using the route from Nyala through Kass, Zalingei, Mornei and El Geneina. On the Kulbus trade route, the transportation cost per sack increased by 50% this quarter, from 40 SDG to 80 SDG. It is now permitted to transport fuel to Kulbus, as long as it is approved by the authorities; this is indicative of improved security.

• During this quarter most daily labouring was in agricultural operations, especially, planting, weeding and ploughing, for which the payment was SDG 250 to SDG 300 per mukhamis.
